novel contributions. The research may largely recombine or restate known ideas without adequate differentiation. Significant revision is needed to establish clearer novelty, identify genuine research gaps, and demonstrate measurable advances beyond the current state of the art.

C01	contemporary algorithmic surveillance, demonstrating how classification systems evolve from acknowledging moral complexity to imposing epistemic closure through data management.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Synthesizes existing theories; no measurable delta.
C02	Our analysis exposes how this process enables the systematic erasure of Palestinian life through predictive governance and demographic analytics that reduce human beings to manageable variables.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Applies known frameworks to specific case.
C03	Ultimately, this paper argues that modern forms of violence reveal a structural complicity between Western rationality, technological administration, and the erosion of moral responsibility, where bureaucratic language itself becomes an instrument of dehumanization.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Extends established critical theory arguments.

C08	extends Foucault's framework into the digital age, demonstrating how algorithmic systems intensify biopolitical control while maintaining the appearance of objective neutrality.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Application of existing theory to new context.
C09	However, our contribution extends beyond these frameworks by highlighting how data-driven systems create new forms of epistemic closure that resist traditional modes of critique.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Qualitative extension of existing critique.
C10	Our findings indicate that the conditions for ethical relation are being systematically undermined by systems that render human particularity invisible.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Conclusion derived from applied theory.
