CLAIMS ANALYZED

This paper appears to be primarily derivative with concerns about originality. Multiple contribution claims show high overlap with existing work, weak gap identification, or insufficient demonstration of novel contributions. The research may largely recombine or restate known ideas without adequate differentiation. Significant revision is needed to establish clearer novelty, identify genuine research gaps, and demonstrate measurable advances beyond the current state of the art.

C01	This paper examines how institutional discourses systematically obscure Palestinian suffering through what we term 'procedural absolution'—a communicative double bind where bureaucratic language and technical protocols create an illusion of neutrality while enabling systematic violence.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Gap implied, synthesizes existing theories, no measurable delta.
C02	Our contribution lies in demonstrating how discourse moves from acknowledging moral contestability to re-imposing closure through rationalized frameworks, and how this movement enables the rationalized erasure of Palestinian life.	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Applies existing frameworks to Palestinian context, qualitative extension.
C03	Our contribution synthesizes these traditions to analyze how contemporary institutional discourse	1	0	1	MEDIUM	Synthesis of established theories, no new empirical method.
